ROLLINS GETS ADDITIONAL $500,000 ENDOWMENT

THE BACHELLER ORATORICAL CONTEST

MISS HISSLER, OF FT. MYERS, WINS IN CLOSE COMPETITION WITH STUDENTS OF STATE'S BEST SCHOOLS

Miss Dutton and Miss Reed, of New Smyrna and Ft. Lauderdale, Close Second and Third.

One of the most important and significant events of "Founders' Week" was the Irving Bacheller Oratorical Prize Contest which took place Friday afternoon in Knowles Hall before a fair-sized and most appreciative audience. Mr. Edward W. Bok, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, presided. He was most happy in his genial and graceful manner of conducting the exercises, calling contestants familiarly by their first names and so, by his kindly humor, creating at once a genial atmosphere most conductive to the success of the occasion. All the principal high schools of the state had been cordially invited to participate

HAROLD HILL '20 GETS PRESIDENCY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

D. A. Cheney and Sexton Johnson Elected Athletic Representative of Advisory Council

The twenty-third annual meeting of the Alumni Association was held in Carnegie Saturday morning, February 26, at 10 o'clock. Miss Mary Branham, '11, vice-president of the association, took the chair in the absence of the president, Mr. Arthur Slater, '09, of St. Augustine. Owing to the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Ada Yothers, '05, due to poor health Miss Sara Muriel, '18, acted in that

Campaign Is Brought to Successful Close On Founder's Day

Additional Half Million for College Makes 36th Anniversary Celebration a Significant Date in the History of the Florida Educational World

Each year during February Rollins celebrates its founding and each year some development of the work adds to the appropriateness of the celebration. But there has never perhaps been a date in the history of the college since the good days of 1885, when Rollins had its beginning, that has been more significant than the recent Founder's Week activities which marked the close of a successful campaign resulting in the addition of a half million dollars to the endowment fund. This sum, together with the original endowment, brings the total to approximately $600,000.00, a total sufficiently large to make Rollins an interesting possibility in the work of the great educational boards.

A record of the many interesting phases of the campaign and the factors which combined in putting Rollins on her present financial foundation would make an interesting chapter in current history. The outstanding figures are, of course, President George Morgan Ward, who has given, worked and sacrificed everything; Mr. Charles H. Morse, who has donated large sums of money; Mr. William C. Comstock, who as director of the final drive labored unstringly; and Irving Bacheller, the famous author, whose gifted pen did much for the cause.

The final campaign, which was successfully terminated in a period less than a year, is the fruit of the labor of many years. For years it has been the hope and working objective of those who have been connected with the college that Rollins might have the handsome endowment she so richly deserves because of her worthy and proud record of achievement. It is no little wonder, then, that on the afternoon of February 27, when Mr. Comstock an-

'SANDSPUR" HOST AT DINNER ON 27TH ANNIVERSARY

LARGE NUMBER OF STATE'S EDITORS PRESENT—MAJORITY OF COLLEGES REPRESENTED

Dining Hall Appropriately Decorated. Splendid Program and Banquet Make Evening Complete.

One of the most notable of the many events of Founder's Week celebrating the thirty-sixth year of Rollins, was the twenty-seventh anniversary dinner of The Rollins Sandspur, which took place in the college dining hall on the evening of Saturday, February 26, at 6 o'clock. Around the festive board, made in the form of a huge "S," were gathered the editors of the various college papers in the state, some of the editors of the state press, former journalistic men, and the staff of The Sandspur. In addition to these there was present Mr. William V. V. Stephens, a very promising young poet, and Mr. C. W. Williams, formerly a singer for Victory records. Mr. Stephens is Mr. Irving Bacheller's secretary, and in the opinion of the noted author has a very brilliant future ahead of him. Mr. Williams is a brother of Evans Williams of Victor fame, and is at present the secretary of the Board of Trade in Eustis, Fla. The head of the table was presided over by Professor W. L. Corbin, of the department of Literature at Rollins, who acted as toastmaster of the occasion. The dining room was tastefully decorated with

In spite of weather predictions, Saturday turned out to be a glorious day for the regatta, with just enough ting in the air and coolness in the water to put some pep into the contestants. A huge crowd turned out, lining the shore of Lake Virginia from the boat-house to the boys' lock.

Great credit should be given to Robert Brooks, winner of the boys' cup. He entered 11 of the 16 events offered for men and, although in several places on the program was forced to go from one race into another without a moment for rest,

Established in 1924 with the following editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

Have you noticed the great interest taken in baseball this year? Watch the team; something is sure to take place ere long.

DR. WARD AND THE ENDOWMENT

We hope Dr. Ward recalls that resignation right away. The success of the endowment, we feel sure, will bring him back again.

BACHELLER-BOK-STEPHENS

The Bacheller-Bok-Stephens entertainment, we believe, was thoroughly enjoyed by the staff, at least the editor wishes to be among the appreciators. It must have been a great delight for Mr. Bok to have such distinguished personages in his audience.

STAFF APPOINTMENTS

THE RESULT OF DR. WARD'S LABORS

While we are all rejoicing over the happy outcome of the endowment campaign few of us realize how this great work has been brought about. Those far-sighted founders of Florida's oldest college who made provision for its establishment, dreamed of the day when an adequate endowment would guard the Rollins financial doors, and under the able leadership of one of these founders, William C. Comstock, this final campaign has been brought to a successful conclusion.

This has been mainly brought about by the efforts of President Ward, who in idealistic plan saw the future possibility, and in able execution realized the vision. For twenty-five years Rollins has been dear to the heart of Dr. Ward and he has never failed to give to it—give his time, his money, his thought, his love, his everything. But his sacrifices have inspired others to give to a cause worthy of the effort, and the handsome donations from George A. Rollins, Charles H. Morse, the trustees, alumni, faculty, and students have resulted in the existence of the present Rollins and the development of the great Rollins of the future. Dr. Ward's hopes for and faith in Rollins are unbounded. With a rare and wonderful personality, a training and experience gleaned from the leading institutions, and a thorough understanding of human nature, he has made real men and women, leaders worth while, out of the many hundreds of Rollins students with whom he has come in contact. So a part of the college's history and lives of its students has Dr. Ward become that Rollins could never be Rollins without him, for he holds in his personality the spirit which has always made Rollins come out successfully and which will continue to do so.

FORMER ROLLINS STUDENT WINS HIGH HONORS AT HARVARD

The winner of a recent nation-wide contest open to men and women for an honor certificate to be awarded by Harvard University for the highest average and scholarship in the department of English literature for teachers was given to Miss Della Clifford McManus, a former student of Rollins. Miss McManus received a personal letter of congratulation from President Wilson.

TOTAL $503,458 RESULT ROLLINS COLLEGE DRIVE

A total subscription of $503,458.-38, well over the $500,000 goal, was reported as the result of the Rollins College endowment fund campaign which terminated officially at the annual meeting of the Rollins Board of Trustees held at Knowles Hall Monday morning.

The success of this movement places Rollins in line for further gifts, principally from eastern educational foundations, which President George Morgan Ward had secured for the college contingent upon the completion of the $500,000 fund by October 1. An immediate effort will be made to obtain a waiver of this original time limit.

As a further result of the success of the endowment movement Dr. Ward, who is now in Palm Beach, replied yesterday to a request from the Board of Trustees that he withdraw his resignation as president of Rollins submitted January 1, that he would take the request under consideration.

It is expected that Dr. Ward will be in Winter Park on or before March 15 and that the matter of his return to Rollins will be finally determined at that time.

Miss Sarah Murtel, 18, was a visitor for the "All Rollins Home-Coming" on Saturday of Founder's Week.

ORLANDO SENTINEL PAYS HIGH COMPLIMENT TO DR. WARD

Points Out Necessity of Dr. Ward's Return to Rollins With Successful Raising of Endowment.

The following editorial taken from the Orlando Morning Sentinel of March 2, is indicative of the way other people than Rollins students feel about President Ward. The college is pleased to note the spontaneous outburst of appreciation. The editorial was headed "An Insistent and Sincere Demand."

"Dr. George Morgan Ward's direction of Rollins College as president is a positive necessity because he has a brilliant intellect, a forceful executive ability, a charm of personality, and influence with educational foundations. He can bring prestige to his college because he can gather around him not only an able faculty but a notable array of trustees and wealthy men who will give their time and money to the institution. Dr. Ward is needed to head the college and the demand that he gets actively at the helm is insistent and sincere. The news informs us that Dr. Ward has withdrawn his resignation as president, rendered January 1, and that he will visit the college this month. Now that the oldest institution is sure of its endowment, all that is necessary is Dr. Ward, and it is the hope of every one interested in not only Rollins but Florida's educational system, that he will give his rare gifts to the upbuilding of Rollins College."

THE WAY MR. WILLIAM C. COMSTOCK DOES IT

Of all surprises of the year for the editor, the greatest came Wednesday, when he opened a letter from Mr. William C. Comstock with the expectation of finding a story on the endowment which he had requested Mr. Comstock to write, and in its stead discovered nestling among the folds of the paper, a happy little check for twenty dollars. In his letter of thanks the editor made the remark that this was the first time he had received money in place of a news story.

Bully for Mr. Comstock, another one of those big hearted trustees of Rollins College. May his kind be perpetuated upon this earth. Mr. Comstock had better look out now that he has given himself away; the editor will be writing him frequently.

Miss Marion Rickard had as her guest for the festivities her sister, Miss Mildred Rickard, who is living with her parents in Orlando for the winter. Miss Rickard is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Everhard visited their daughter, Helen, on Sunday and attended the forum at which Dr. Bestor spoke. Mr. and Mrs. Everhard are spending the winter in Orlando.

Faculty Sends Resolutions of Sympathy

At a recent called meeting of the Rollins Faculty the following resolution of sympathy was adopted:

"Be It Resolved: That whereas Mrs. George L. Dyer, the revered and well-loved friend of the Faculty and Students of our Institution has been removed from our midst and called to the higher life, we convey to her daughter, Miss Susan Dyer, and to the other members of the family, our sincere and heart-felt sympathy in the loss of her dear mother—our common loss as well."

TALK ON MacDOWELL MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION AND PETERBOROUGH PAGEANT

Mrs. Edward MacDowell at the Piano

Mrs. Edward MacDowell, wife of the famous composer, gave a very delightful piano recital in Knowles Hall the night of February 24. Her subject was the work of the MacDowell Memorial association and the Peterborough Pageant. Her talk was illustrated by lantern slides.

She spoke of the memorial work with great feeling and explained that the aim was not to raise a great memorial to the composer so much as to aid art and permit the thoughts and feelings of many struggling and gifted artists to find vent in a congenial and inspiring atmosphere, at a nominal cost. The charm of the environment was brought clearly to her audience by the beautiful slides and her graphic descriptions. The quaint, homelike New England farm house with its simple furnishings, the barn over which a fairy wand was waved transforming it into a charming dining room where the artists met at meals morning and evening, dining at little tables scattered about the room, the different studios here and there on the country landscape, were pictured, and in one Edward Arlington Robinson was caught in reverie before an open fire. At these studios Mrs. MacDowell told her listeners, the artists spend the days repairing there each morning with their luncheon in order that the day may not be interrupted or a train of thought broken by a trip back to the "Colony" for the mid-day meal. She explained that the project requires quite a sum of money and that the royalties she receives from the publishers of her husband's compositions are insufficient for the needs, for which reason she gives her talks in various parts of the country hoping to interest people. The Peterborough Pageant of the Pilgrims of 1620 given by the townspeople of Peterborough was first given to advertise and call attention to the enterprise. Some very beautiful slides of the pageant were shown.

Mrs. MacDowell played a number of her husband's compositions, selections from New England idyls, sea pieces, woodland sketches, fireside tales and virtuoso studies. She very graciously responded to several enthusiastic encores at the close of the program, playing MacDowell's first and last compositions.

Girl Glee Club Makes Tour of Coast

The Girls' Glee Club left here automobile Friday morning for a short tour down the East Coast. They gave their first concert in Melbourne on Friday evening, March 4, under the auspices of the Melbourne Women's Club. On Saturday evening, March 5, the club appeared in Fort Pierce, where they were presented by the High School Girls' Glee Club of that city. They returned Sunday night.

Joint Recital at Country Club

On Wednesday evening, March 2, Lotte Greenup, violinist; Jean Knowlton, soprano, and Marion Rhea, pianist, members of the Conservatory faculty, gave a joint recital at the Country Club. This was the last concert of the series being given by the Conservatory for the benefit of the Rollins Endowment Fund.

Mr. P. Edward Gillinger, of Frostproof, visited his family last week and attended the anniversary exercises.

James and Vincent Win Raquet in Tennis Tournament

Romper is Star of Meet—Winner Easily Over All Opponents.

The Tennis Tournament ended Tuesday morning and a few minutes after the last match had been played off the rackets were given out in assembly. The racket for the girls went to Jimmie James and the one for the boys to Howard Vincent.

In the men's doubles Wright and Ward defeated Thayer and Warner although the losers put up a game fight to the end. This gave them each five points toward the racket.

In the women's singles Jimmie James defeated Eva Missildine by her continual pep and well placed shots. A great many of her points came through double. It was a fine match as both are star players.

In the women's singles Jimmie James and Ruth Waldron defeated Eva Missildine and Dolly Darrow. Here was another fine match and was the same story of pep and well placed shots. Although out of practice Ruth Waldron played a stellar game. Jimmie pounced on every ball and made every shot sure.

Jimmie James again came out a winner in the mixed doubles when she and Howard Vincent defeated Reed Palmer and Eva Missildine. It was here the boys showed up poorly and Jimmie James scored the greater number of points on the winning side.

The men's singles was a fine exhibition of tennis even though they were not up to their usual great game. It was played between Orrin Rominger and Sam Smith with Orrin Rominger winning in spite of a sore ankle. The first set was easy for Romeo but the second was a fight for every point and game.

As may be observed there were ben four boys with five points each toward the racket; Ward, Wright, Rominger and Vincent. A special tournament was played off Tuesday morning to decide the tie. Only one set match was played. The first match Wright was defeated by Rominger 6-0. Vincent defeated Ward in a hard match filled with deuce games by the score of 6-4. Then Rominger met Vincent in the final and deciding set and was defeated by the score of 6-2 because of a weak ankle. This gave Vincent the racket for the championship.

The outstanding star of the whole tournament was Jimmie James as she gathered a grand total of fifteen points and was the winner in all three of the events she entered. She is a star player and deserves the racket.

BIG DEBATE WITH MERCER APRIL 29

Chairman Lewis of the Debating Committee of the Delphic Literary Society has announced that the date agreed upon for the Mercer-Rollins Debate is Friday night, April 29, the night before the Florida State High School Water Meet. This has been arranged so that the high school students who will be in Winter Park at this time to participate in the water meet, may have an opportunity of witnessing a first class college debate. It is very likely that Dr. A. P. Montague, ex-president of Columbia College, will be one of the judges.

FOUNDER'S WEEK REGATTA IS BEST EVER

he never failed to place. His final score was 36 points.

Wallace Byrd rolled up 22 points. Dick Rogers made 20, Jack Stevens made 13 and Rex Holliday made 10 points.

Eleanor Sprague was foremost among the girls, making a score of 16 points. She was of very great assistance to the officials during the meet, getting the girls together, encouraging them, placing them, and finally going in as coxswain of the war canoe crew. Under her leadership the girls showed up wonderfully well.

Blanche Whitney was second with a score of 10 points. It may be interesting to know that when Blanche Whitney came to Rollins last September she could not swim a stroke. Before she went home for Christmas she swam nearly two miles, and she was one of the most frequent and successful contestants in the regatta Saturday. Grit and perseverance is the formula: you can't down her; she's a typical Rollins College girl.

"Gloezer Vincent won the underwater distance swim. He went the record distance of 140 feet. Perishitch, although he became confused and swam in a circle at the last, came in second.

The closest swimming race among the girls was the 50 yard swim, which was won by Blanche Whitney; Eleanor Sprague was second and Maude Stevens came in third.

The mixed doubles race in canoes was a very close race. The contestants showed their practice in almost perfect strokes all the way through. Margaret McKay and "Soupy" Byrd won by a narrow margin. Carlos Butler and Ruth Stagg came in second, and Rickard and Brooks were third.

In the women's canoe doubles Marion Rickard and Eleanor Sprague came in first, after a hard race. Marjorie Forwood and [illegible] came in a close [illegible] and [illegible] the first to be vanquished. Then Hominger and Leete in juggling for position tipped over. Joe Rahmer and Carlos Butler were overcome by Red Palmer and Jack Stephens. Then Red and Jack engaged in battle with Dick Rogers and Rex Holliday. Rogers lost the paddling from his pole and had to get another one. After a long, hard contest Red Palmer and Jack Stephens were overcome and Dick Rogers and Rex Halliday were the victors of this event.

In the diving event Douglas Robbins' hand sprins dive was very spectacular and Joe Rahmer's spiral dives were splendid. Robbins took first place, Brooks second and Stephens third.

There was scarcely any wind for the canoe sailing races. Bob Brooks led off, but his sail wouldn't stay up and Paul Potter shot ahead and led the procession to the second float, Soupy Byrd was second. There they juggled for wind and Soupy got ahead, Brooks coming next. Soupy rounded the last stake and was headed for the finish line long before Bob Brooks, his closest follower, came around it, but Brooks walked up and was halfway to the finish line before Soupy reached it. This is a new event and was certainly a success and very spectacular.

In the sailing launch race the Tiger got off course and the Kangaroo came in ahead.

In the girls' war canoe race the college girls got the best start and kept a more even stroke all the way through, coming in first after a hard race. The Academy crew, under coxwain Sprague, gave a splendid drill, in this excelling the College girls. Both crews did exceptionally good work, making this one of the most exciting races of the day.

in the contest.

The contestants and their themes are as follows:

Miss Jeanne Carraway, Orlando High School, "The Making of a Man."

Miss Ida Carmack, Oakland-Winter Garden High School, "What Is Really Worth While in Life."

Miss Nellie Dutton, New Smyrna High School, "The Character of Roosevelt."

Miss Lena Ella Hissler, Gwynn High School of Ft. Myers, "What Is Americanism?"

Miss Margaret Reed, Ft. Lauderdale High School, "Americanization in the High School."

These contestants had previously been carefully culled from their respective high schools weeks since by means of local preliminary "tryouts" and the winners duly chosen for the state contest at Rollins.

The results reveal[illegible] a surprisingly [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] preparation and comprehending grasp and treatment of the subjects. From the start to the finish the speakers held the attention of the audience.

The well-known pulpit orator, Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper, Mrs. Edward W. Bok, and Mrs. Hiram Powers, editor of the Winter Park Post, served as judges of the contest.

The winner of the first prize of $60.00 was Miss Lena Ella Hissler of the Gwynne High School, Ft. Myers. The second prize of $40.00 was awarded to Miss Nellie Dutton of the New Smyrna High School. Miss Margaret Reed was a close third and was highly commended for her excellent delivery.

Dr. C. K. Hoyt of the English Department who, for some time, has been perfecting arrangements for the final contest, is certainly to be congratulated upon the results of his painstaking labors.

DR. WARD OF ROLLINS ONLY PRESIDENT LISTED IN "DISTINGUISHED AMERICANS"

A recent edition of Herringshaw's "Distinguished Americans" has been received by the college library this past week and placed on the shelves for reference. It is a beautifully bound volume, containing 427 pages, and will no doubt be of much value to the college community especially inasmuch as almost an entire page is devoted to the record of Dr. George Morgan Ward, President of Rollins.

The editor's preface, in speaking of the purpose of the volume, has the following to say: "The most attractive form of history is biography, which perpetuates the memory of individuals, and while aptly illustrating the conduct of life, conveys important lessons. History, it has been well said, does not much regard facthe soil or material wealth; but the admirable men and women that a country produces—they are the glory of the country. The most admirable collection of contemporary biography of America's foremost leaders of life and thought will be an invaluable acquisition to world's libraries and historical archieves. The sketches of the leaders of life and thought now at the helm of America's ecclesiastical, civil, military, industrial and commercial lines of human activity have been selected with the greatest care from current historical works and publications and from various other sources." In giving Dr. Ward's life, the book speaks of his student days at Dartmouth, Andover, Harvard and John Hopkins, of his being the first General Secretary of the International Christian Endeavor Society, of his work at Wells College, his vice-presidency of the American Humane Society, his pastorate of the Poinciana Chapel at Palm Beach, and of his Presidency of Rollins College. It is interesting to note that he is the only college president of Florida mentioned in "Distinguished Americans."

SANDSPUR CELEBRATES 27TH YEAR WITH DINNER

festoons of blue and gold crepe streamers hung over the large S-shaped table. On the walls were large hand-painted seals of the college, giving the room a true Rollins atmosphere. The Sandspur table, around which the guests were seated, was decorated with dainty little blue and gold baskets filled with beautiful large pansies and fern sprays. Running the full length of the table from the baskets were pansy-bedecked streamers in the college colors, with pins conveniently placed so that the pansies might be taken as favors. From above the doorway at one side of the room was hung a banner lighted from behind by electricity and bearing the welcome "The Sandspur Greets You." The music furnished throughout the meal by Jump's orchestra from Orlando was most charming and greatly enjoyed. It was shown by the loud bursts of applauding after each selection. It was a matter of no little regret that Tom Peach, who was to have been the principal speaker of the evening, was unable to be present on account of being out of the state. It is hoped that another year Tom Sandspur may have Mr. Beach, because of his widespread popularity and former connection with The Sandspur when a student at Rollins, will make him a most welcome guest at the anniversary dinner and a source of much delight to the visiting guests.

The Speeches

Following the excellent chicken dinner came the after-dinner speeches of the invited guests, Toastmaster Corbin called first upon Warren M. Ingram, the editor of The Sandspur, who gave the welcome of The Sandspur and the college. Mr. Ingram, in referring to the purpose of the anniversary dinners, said that it was the intention of The Sandspur to bring together each year the editors of the different college papers in the state that the good will and harmonious feeling between the schools may be perpetuated by the personal contact and friendly association to be had from coming together on such occasions. Already several important things have grown out of these dinners, namely, the organization of the Florida Collegiate Press Association and a settlement of the football squabble between Florida and Southern.

Mr. Trueman Greene

"The Mission of a College Paper" was the subject taken by the college editors and Mr. Trueman Greene, managing editor of the University of Florida Alligator, speaking in the absence of Mr. Herbert Ford, the editor, was the first on the program. Mr. Greene clearly and forcefully outlined the ideals and aims of a college paper as applied to his own sheet and at the same time touched upon the connection of the paper and the school at Florida.

Mr. J. F. McLeod

The editor of the Southern, Mr. J. F. McLeod, brought out the importance of the editorial in the mission of a paper, stating that the editorial should be the most important part of the paper and should be made more interesting by touching on subjects of interest to the students. One of the things emphasized by Mr. McLeod was the importance of the school paper as a strong influence in the matter of college spirit.

At this juncture Miss Dorothy Boal, editor of the Flambeau, Florida State College for Women, made her appearance, but plead to be excused from speaking on account of her inability to prepare one in the short time she had before coming.

Mr. J. Harold Hill

The Sandspur staff was pleased to have present Mr. J. Harold Hill, editor of the paper last year. Mr. Hill spoke concerning "The Rollins Press and a Daily Sandspur." After paying a compliment to The Sandspur on the excellent dinner he related a somewhat humorous story of the efforts of the present editor in trying to get a reply to his letter of invitation. In speaking of The Sandspur becoming a daily, Mr. Hill remarked that Mr. Ingram told the whole story in a talk they had had together regarding Mr. Hill's subject, when he said, "Tell them we don't want a daily Sandspur." Mr. Hill's advice was to wait until there was a demand for a daily and not to consider one now.

Mrs. Hiram Powers

Mrs. Hiram Powers, editor of the Winter Park Post, in her delightfully humorous manner, gave some of the struggles of a recording angel. Many were the smiles she brought to her sympathizing hearers as she related some of the misfortunes connected with the printing of a small-town paper.

Mr. P. A. Vans Agnew

It was a great pleasure to hear Mr. P. A. Vans Agnew, former editor of the Kissimmee Valley Gazette, now a resident of Winter Park. Mr. Vans Agnew, from his fund of experience in the field of journalism and as a lawyer, was able to bring to the college editors much of interest and assistance in college journalism.

Mr. William V. V. Stephens

One of the features of the evening was the reading of a number of humorous poems by their author, Mr. William V. V. Stephens. He is an ex-service man, having served with the Eleventh Engineers in France, and is able to bring out in charming verse the humorous side of war's horrors. A constant ripple of laughter was maintained throughout all he said.

Mr. W. L. Thorndyke

To have present Mr. W. L. Thorndyke, formerly of the Palm Beach Post and now editor of the Kissimmee Valley Gazette, is the surety of a most delightful entertainment. Mr. Thorndyke is a man of large journalistic experience and was known personally to Mr. Charles Dana, the famous editor of the New York Sun, from whom he acquired many of the ideals he has striven to maintain throughout his newspaper career. Mr. Thorndyke is a natural humorist and one whose stories are sure to be well told and exceedingly interesting.

Mr. W. M. Glenn

Mr. W. M. Glenn, editor of the Orlando Morning Sentinel, brought before the students the value of training in journalism to be gained on a college paper, and informed them that all the fundamentals in newspaper work except the art of making money are to be found in the college paper. He referred to the importance of making editorials read by making them interesting. Mr. Glenn is a young man not many years removed from a college campus and is able to take the student point of view.

Mr. Willis Powell

It was feared that Mr. Willis Powell, former journalist and the present secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, would not arrive, but he finally made his appearance. He excused himself by stating that he could just as easily have been on time, for he had been driving about Orlando waiting for 5 o'clock to arrive, which he thought was the time for the dinner. Mr. Powell's subject was "College Journalism in Florida." He stated that he knew very little of college journalism, as he had been compelled to leave school at the age of eight and was tempted to speak instead of the sad story of his life, which he said would be most interesting, but he would spare the students at this time. This reference to himself he brought out in a most paradoxically humorous manner. In referring to Mr. C. W. Williams, he said that he had gotten up from a sick bed to come over and was a little shaky yet. However shaky Mr. Williams might have been, he did not betray any of his illness in the round of beautiful songs he sang.

FOUNDER'S DAY IMPRESSIVELY CELEBRATED SUNDAY

SUCCESS OF ENDOWMENT CAMPAIGN MADE CEREMONIES OF SUNDAY AFTERNOON DOUBLY SIGNIFICANT

Dr. Arthur Bestor, Chairman Chautauqua Association, Gave One of Most Masterly Addresses of Year. Other Prominent Speakers.

At Rollins College was celebrated Sunday, February 27, the thirty-sixth anniversary of its founding and the thirty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the town. In view of the conclusion of the recent endowment campaign for the first half million of the total fund sought, and because of the character of the exercises themselves, this occasion proved to be one of the most interesting and significant events in recent years in the history of the college.

The Traditional Procession led off by Chancellor James Brooks and the speaker of the occasion, Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, followed by Mayor E. F. Keezel, members of the Town Council, Trustees, Seniors and Faculty, the latter garbed in the scholastic mortar board hats and gowns, formed at Carnegie Library and marched to Knowles Hall, where the exercises were held.

Refering to the encouraging outcome of the Endowment Campaign for the first half million, Chancellor Brooks announced that the sum in question was completed within thirty odd thousand dollars. At this juncture Mr. William Comstock, chairman of the Trustee Committee in the recent local campaign, begged leave to interrupt by announcing the welcome news that Mr. Morse had just pledged this remaining amount to complete the first $500,000. At this unexpected and dramatic announcement there was most spontaneous and enthusiastic applause, and Mrs. William R. O'Neal moved a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Morse for this latest generous contribution. This was quickly seconded and the audience rose to their feet en masse.

Continuing, the Chancellor then referred to the absence of Miss Susan Dyer, head of the Conservatory, now away on her sad errand to the North for the burial of her mother, and in this connection paid a very touching tribute to Mrs. Dyer, whose death came as a sudden terrible blow to the host of friends she had in the town and college.

Mayor Keezel's address was full of interest from beginning to end and the attention of the audience was carried with no effort in all that he said. Here and there through his speech he brought smiles to his listeners by the telling of several humorous stories. The whole of his well-thought-out message indicated a fine optimism and evidenced the harmonious feeling existing between town and college. The mayor pointed out that Winter Park and Rollins would always continue to grow and prosper as long as they maintained their present progressive spirit, for he had seen parallel cases in the state in which he was raised and how these schools forged to the front who looked ahead unconcerned with good enough.

Following the Mayor, Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, President of the National Chautauqua, delivered a masterly address upon the theme, "The Old World and the New Order," which, for breadth of vision and sanity of treatment, was, perhaps, the finest and most forceful of the many fine platform utterances heard in Winter Park this year.

JAMES STARS IN GAME AGAINST CATHEDRAL

Rollins Girls Lose to Rivals Thirty-five to Twenty-two

On Saturday night, the 19th of February, the Rollins girls' team played their return game with Cathedral, which was a fast, scrappy one.

Jimmie James did all the scoring for Rollins, while Crittenden and Mark did most of Cathedral's basket work. Probst and Meixner each shot a field goal and Meixner caged one foul for Cathedral.

Orlando High Girls 35 — Rollins Girls 19

The Rollins girls' team played the first of the three games staged in the Lyman Gymnasium, Friday, February 25.

The Rollins girls' team was outplayed by Orlando, but put up a good fight. Orlando had splendid team work, and her forwards rarely missed a basket. Miss Gott at guard played well both on the offensive and defensive.

Jimmy James was the star for Rollins, doing all the scoring and playing a fast game. Blanche Whitney played excellently, being both speedy and persistent, and never losing an opportunity to mix in the scrimmage.

nounced the final outcome of the drive, the large audience of friends, trustees, faculty and students, assembled in Knowles Hall, gave vent to their feeling in the large demonstration of good feeling that was recorded.

The story of the effort is not easily told and when it is told no one but those chiefly responsible for the work can possibly realize the enormous amount of work involved, the great personal sacrifices demanded, and the steady endeavor needed to bring it all about. For many years Dr. Ward has labored and prayed that Rollins might have a larger opportunity. When as a young man he first came to Winter Park there must have come to him the vision toward which his successive efforts have been directed—to place Rollins on a high pinnacle of financial independence and give her an opportunity to reach the highest scholastic attainments. The trustees have been loyal and whole-hearted in their co-operation. Last April the final campaign began. Although granted a six months' leave of absence on account of ill health, Dr. Ward continued in his purpose to bring about the results hoped for. The little town of Winter Park caught the vision and within the summer raised the handsome sum of $50,000. Mr. Morse came forward with the handsome sum of $100,000 and other trustees gave according to their means. In the early part of February the intensive campaign took form under the personal direction of William C. Comstock, assisted by a corps of energetic workers: R. W. Greene, R. D. Jenkins, C. A. Feaner, W. R. Lunk, and N. A. Buck. A three-day campaign in Orlando, headed by Donald A. Cheney, president of the Rollins Club of that city, added nearly $50,000 to the sum. The entire state was organized and the alumni and friends actively interested.

A picturesque feature of the campaign had to do with a luncheon given by Mr. Morse at "Osceola Lodge" on February 17. A number of prominent men from the hotels and about town were invited by the host to meet Mr. Bachelier, the author. During the course of the luncheon, Mr. Bachelier spoke of Rollins College and its future and so earnest was his appeal and so certain his conviction that $29,500.00 was pledged.

No better indication of the substantial support given the campaign can be had than that gathered from the contribution of students and faculty. This amounted to $11,500.00.

R. D. Jenkins, Campaign Mgr.

From his report one might readily see the amount of work required of Mr. R. D. Jenkins in the recent Endowment Fund Campaign.

From the results it is very evident that Mr. Jenkins threw himself wholeheartedly into the work of the campaign and worked untiringly until its completion. Mr. Jenkins is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and a lawyer by profession, is perhaps one of the most successful men in college endowment campaign work at the present time.

Dr. Donald J. Cowling, President of Carlton College, Northfield, Minn., stated that Mr. Jenkins above everyone else was due the credit of the success of the Wisconsin State Campaign for Colleges.

Mr. Jenkins left no stone unturned to make the Rollins Endowment a success. He worked night and day and never closed his office until the work of the day was finished. His pleasing personality and convincing arguments made every interview a success. His unlimited supply of enthusiasm sent every worker out into the campaign with a determinated effort to make good. To Mr. Jenkins and his efficient assistants we are indebted for the success of our Half-Million Dollar Endowment Campaign.

After the reports of officers and committees were heard, a motion was made and passed, which provided that "Any alumnus may be elected to life membership upon the payment of $25 at any one time."

The annual election of officers was then held with the following results: President, J. Harold Hill, '20; vice-president, Miss Eva McQuaters, '11; secretary, Miss Susan Gladwin, '20; treasurer, Miss Ada McKnight, '19; executive committee, Alfred J. Hanna, '17; Miss Mary Branham, '11, and Miss Sara Muriel, '18.

Mr. Hill then took the chair. Under the head of new business Mr. Sexton Johnson, '20, and Mr. Donald Cheney, both of Orlando, were elected as alumni representatives of the advisory council for college athletics, in compliance with a request made by Mr. R. W. Greene, who came as a representative of the College Athletic Association.

The meeting was then adjourned but members might attend the "All Rollins Home-Coming" held in Knowles Hall immediately afterwards.

Lakeside has had the pleasure of entertaining several guests during Founder's Week. Mrs. Hinson Byrd and Mrs. Emma Gaylord, of Tampa, were alumni visitors. The Misses Lena Hissler of Fort Myers, Nellie Dutton of New Smyrna, Margaret Reed of Fort Lauderdale, and Joanne Carraway of Orlando.

Miss Harriet L. Mansfield returned to her alma mater for Founder's Week. She is the guest of Miss Marion Philips of Sanford, who accompanied her.

'ARSITY DEFEATS SOUTHERN

W STARS FOR BLUE AND GOLD IN BASKETBALL

Playing and Hard Fighting Win for Rollins over Big Team From Down State

LINS SECONDS DEFEAT OR-NDO HIGH; GIRLS LOSE

Teams Did Their Best and Held ourists to Low Scores; Fitting Close to Successful Season

e Rollins Varsity defeated the hern College basketball team in e game last Friday night in the n Gym before a large Founder's crowd by the close score of 24 11. The game was unusually t and in the early part of the "Smut" Fletcher, star forward e blue and gold team, was ed to the floor in a collision three Southern men and ren- unconscious. It was the sec- accident of the season to ut," the same thing occurring in Presbyterian game, due to charg- n the part of a P. C. guard. For rst time following this accident ame tamed down a bit, but in econd half the same rough play- peared.

llins took the lead at the start e game and never were they ehind. Southern did not score a from the floor until near the of the first half, when Bell ked down the side for a long and Powell got one. Fletcher one foul before he was hurt and Starr took his place and Romin- playing his first game of basket- started things in good shape two field goals. Dow added more goals in this half, while got one and shot a foul. The f ended with the score stand- 12 to 7. The Southern team ed entirely on the defensive, all men playing in their back court of the time and only leaving it a long shot for the basket when of the men would get the ball. was especially true in the sec- half and it was necessary for m to take several long shots. shot pretty baskets from near enter. Ed. Dow was successful tting through the Southern men for three short shots. Meanwhile Powell of Southern made two field baskets and Hammond one.

For the Rollins team Dow was the shining light and it was around this streak of "greased lightning" that Rollins centered her offensive. He was always where the ball was and where the playing was the hardest. On defense he ably assisted Warner and Stone, who are mainly responsible for the low score made by Southern. Starr made some good shots and his floor work was fine. Rominger more than came up to what was expected of him and has proved himself to be one of the most reliable men on the squad. This long Texas Ranger never played basketball until a week before the Carolina trip and for that reason was not taken along, but soon after he showed his worth, and since the return of the team has been working in at center with good results.

Following the Southern game the Rollins Seconds defeated Orlando High in a close game 29-22. The Seconds gave a poor exhibition in comparison to their work all the year and it looked like Orlando would turn the tables until Palmer went in at center. "Red" has been off form for the last month, so has been playing center instead of forward, but was not started in the second game on account of having to go into the Southern game near its close when Rominger sprained his ankle.

The lineup:

Rollins		Southern
Fletcher, Starr,
Palmer	L. F.	Powell
Dow	R. F.	Hammond
Starr, Rominger	C.	Cromate
Warner	L. G.	Bell
Stone	R. G.	Fisher

Goals from the floor: Dow 5, Starr 1, Rominger 2, Powell 3, Hammond, Bell.

Goals from foul: Starr 2, Fletcher, Dow, Hammond 3.

Referee: F. Ward.

Time: 20 minute halves.

Junior Prom of 1921 Greatly Enjoyed

Favors in Form of Gayly Colored Caps Enhance Fun

Immediately following the wonderfully successful Handapar dinner Saturday evening, the faculty, guests and students of Rollins were entertained at one of the most enjoyable events of the entire week, the annual Junior Prom in honor of the Senior class. The committee in charge, under the direction of Helen Everhard, is to be highly congratulated not only on the tastefully decorated gymnasium, but also on the care with which all the details of the entire evening were worked out.

The gymnasium was decorated in a simple but effective manner. Spanish moss being used as the main motif, with an introduction of the class colors in the covered lights. Palmettos covered the windows, adding to the general effect of the outdoors. The festive appearance of the assembly was greatly enhanced by the introduction of fancy paper caps or even the stately dress was greatly transformed when he donned his gaily colored chapeau. Added to the artificial beauty of the room, the bright colors of the dresses, the ruffle or slowly moving figures of the dance, was the wonderful moonlight that streamed through the windows when the lights were dimmed, making the picture one which will be long remembered by those present.

During the evening punch was served by the members of the Junior Academy class and at the time of intermission delicious ice cream, cake and mints were served. The cakes and mints followed out the color system of yellow and white.

The music was furnished by Jump's orchestra of Orlando and was unusually good. Instead of the usual formal program dance, breaks were in order, and added greatly to the informal air of the dance. The entire evening was delightful and served as a fitting close for a strenuous but never-to-be-forgotten day in the memories of many.

Sydney Thompson Delights Audience at Rollins

Miss Sydney Thompson appeared in Original Plays and Folk Ballads in costume before a large and appreciative audience in Knowles Hall on the evening of February 28. Before the close of the first number Miss Thompson had completely captivated her audience by her youthful charm, her lovely voice, her winning personality, and her unusual artistic ability.

In the second number Miss Thompson appeared in a wonderful costume of brocaded rose and blue satin with [illegible] representing the mediaeval [illegible] of about the fifteenth century. In this costume she presented "A Lai de Marie de France from the period of 1150," and a number of Old English Ballads.

The last number, Moorish Ballads, was given in a beautiful Moorish costume of white with rose brocaded bodice and cap, set off by dainty bare shoulders and Moorish anklets.

We feel sure that it was the most [illegible] delightful and educational entertainment given at Rollins this year.

Miss Elenor Byrd was a member of the Delphic Alumnae on Friday evening. Miss Byrd is one of the active alumnae of Rollins.

W. C. A. Holds Special Lenten Service

One of the finest and most inspiring meetings of the year was held on Friday night, February 21, in the Halls of Cloverleaf, when the Y. W. C. A. held a special Lenten service with the purpose of imbibing a new spirit of fellowship among students and organizations on the campus.

The regular devotional exercises were conducted by Ruth Scudder, after which Mrs. Brooks, in a well-rendered musical number, struck the chord which put each heart in tune for the message of the evening.

Chancellor Brooks followed with a short but appealing talk, "Today's Challenge to the College Woman." In this he emphasized the need of a deepened spirit of fellowship, and pointed out the important part Y. W. C. A. can play in student life by establishing a common meeting ground.

Miss Corbin then spoke briefly on "Why I Think Y. W. C. A. Is Important," bringing out the idea that college people, through their very broad understanding of those of their own age, are better able to help each other in their search for the finer and bigger things of life.

The meeting was then given over to the girls in an open forum. Florence Bumby, in a short talk, spoke on behalf of the Kappa Epsilon sorority in its desire to work for the social atmosphere and spirit of true fellowship. Ruth Waldron spoke briefly, pledging the good will of Sigma Phi in a similar undertaking. Easter Russell followed with a few words, urging the support of every girl in making Y. W. C. A. a more important factor in our college life. Miss Kendall closed the meeting with a few appropriate remarks on the practical application of the ideals set forth by the various leaders.

We need Y. W. on our campus and Y. W. needs the support of every single girl. We have worked together to secure our endowment for Rollins. Let us bring the same spirit to our work in the Y. W. C. A. and make the association a firm rock in the foundation for the bigger, better Rollins which is to come.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER OF DELPHIC SOCIETY

Spirit during the great war is a matter of history, was the lion of the occasion.

The anniversary fell on the evening of February 25, and the dinner in celebration was held in the college dining hall. The tables were prettily decorated with long strips of green and yellow crepe paper and centered with little bowls of yellow pansies and blue violets were placed on the tables of each. Huge blue balloons with gay little yellow canaries were suspended from the ceiling in a long line across the center of the room. These were viewed with a coveting eye and it was said that Mr. Bachelor was seen fondly caressing one of the saucy birds and saying that he intended to take it home with him for a keep sake.

Chancellor Brooks served as toastmaster. Major Powell, as the principal speaker, told of the Philippines, relating incidents derived from his experience there not only in the army but in a civil capacity. He presented the subject very clearly and forcibly, introducing so much of the personal element that his audience was indeed sorry when he closed his speech. As the only other speaker, Mr. William C. Comstock, one of the founders of the college, was heard in his usual happy manner—a manner that is very dear to Rollins people.

ROLLINS PRESIDENT ACTIVE IN CHARITY WORK OF PALM BEACH COUNTY

That Dr. Ward is one of the busiest men in Florida can only be concluded when one learns of the multitude of duties which daily come to his desk. During the several weeks he spends in Palm Beach, as pastor-in-charge of the famous Poinciana Chapel, in addition to his sermons which are delivered each Sunday morning and listened to by hundreds of the leading men and women of the country, he is busy from early morning till late at night as "general pastor" for the thousands that flock to the East Coast resorts. He has just recently smoothed out a very complicated tangle in a large hospital on the coast, involving some $200,000 and the health interests of the Palm Beach communities. Has just completed his work as chairman of the Charities Board handling the $15,000 proceeds from the recent Washington Ball held at the Hotel Poinciana, and as these duties are performed new work piles up. The number of appeals for personal assistance, involving time and thought, is appalling and as one sees the genial doctor going about his endless tasks, the question arises as to how he ever has time to sleep.

Getting warm enough for swimming again. Come on, mermaids! Let's have every girl a swimmer before school closes. If you did not learn the first of the year come out and let us teach you now. You'll never learn any younger and it is really easy. Ask Blanche.

Who's next on that swim around the lake? Now is the time to get in shape for it. Practice and training does it, girls.

Cloverleaf Hounds

To Cloverleaf one Sunday night
Two lovers strolled in great delight;
The night was clear and high o'er head
The moon shone down its golden red.

And as they espied the neat settee
Their hearts did beat in sympathy;
But as they took another stride,
The seat they found was occupied.

Ah! now what will we do, they said,
As to the parlor they did tread;
The light was dim, but oh, the chance
That some stray eyes toward them would glance.

Ah! now they have a brilliant plan
They'll sit beside the garbage can!
But "darn," he said, "that dreadful smell
Is vastly worse than smoking Hell."

"You must calm down," she gently cooed,
"Such words as those are here taboued."
But then he stood in fearful rage
And cursed the bloomin' little cage.

"'Tis time," said he, "for us to move."
And as to this she did approve,
He kissed her as they turned and fled,
And now, how else are they but wed?

(If this you think is fallacy,
Stop in the College Pharmacy;
And right behind a cigar butt
You'll see the fellow — known as Smut).

SPORT NOTES

What a great ending for the basketball season last Friday night with the final two games ending in our favor. Too bad the girls couldn't come across but they showed the old fighting spirit.

All regrets of the ending of basketball are wiped away with the coming of a successful looking baseball season. You've got to hand it the credit of being the best and most popular game on this globe.

Wonder what Smut thinks about baseball and what wonders he could have accomplished if he had kept up. Do the old students remember his brilliant and fat batting average? No harm meant, Smut.

Jimmie James takes the prize for versatility. She is captain and star player on the basket ball team, champion girl tennis player, besides being a leader in school work and in the conservatory and her sorority. They even say she heaves a ball on the pitcher's mound when comes to baseball.

Why not have a girls' team or two and have some [illegible] It would be great sport besides training in a fine game.

In reviewing the basketball forget Easter Russell in both and center. She had a thankless but held it down in the great [illegible] manner. She was always the ball and to her the game never lost until the whistle blew.

Above all, don't let's forget Brewster. With hardly any material he has turned out fine teams and made greenhorns into players. Too bad letters aren't out to the coaches. He deserves thing we can give him.

This column will answer questions on sport news desired address the Sport column. office. Don't be afraid to ask what we are here for.
